

1. The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the plane was the cold air. It was a sharp contrast to the warm air of the plane. I had heard that the weather was bad, but I didn't expect it to be so cold. I was wearing a heavy coat, but it didn't seem to be enough. I shivered as I walked towards the car. The driver was waiting for me, and I got into the back seat. The car was warm, and I felt a little better. The driver took me to the hotel, and I checked in. The room was nice, but I was still cold. I went to the bathroom and took a hot shower. It felt great. I was finally warm.

2. The second thing I noticed was the smell. It was a mix of old wood and fresh paint. I had heard that the hotel was old, but I didn't expect it to smell like that. I was used to the smell of the plane, but this was different. I went to the front desk and asked the clerk if the hotel was old. She said yes, and that it was built in the 1920s. I was interested in the history of the hotel, so I asked her if she could show me around. She said yes, and we went to the tour. The hotel was really old, and it had a lot of interesting things to see. I was impressed by the architecture and the history of the hotel.

3. The third thing I noticed was the food. I had heard that the hotel had a good restaurant, but I didn't expect it to be so good. I was used to the food of the plane, but this was different. I went to the restaurant and ordered a dish. The food was delicious, and I had never tasted anything like it before. I was impressed by the quality of the food, and I decided to try another dish.
